

Name : Yau Tsz Hin

Class : 2D

Book Title : The Musgrave Ritual

Author: Conan Doyle

After I have persistently thought the murderer, I believe the murderer is Rachel because of several reasons which are going to be mentioned soon.

The first reason is that Brunton cheated on and broke up with Rachel. It clearly shows that their relationships are entirely awful. What the special thing is that Rachel is extremely excitable. She killed Brunton in a bid to revenge on him. It can be one of the most major reason for Rachel to kill Brunton.

The cruz of the matter is that Rachel has mentioned 'he has gone. 'If Rachel had't killed Brunton, she wouldn't have said this suspicious thing. Based on my knowledge, it is very common for murderer to say something which can be used to guess that someone is probably a murderer.

From my perspective, Rachel used the box to attract the curiosity from Brunton. My speculation is that he found the box through finding the hidden place which was soon covered with a stone by Rachel. He was unable to go away from the place due to the heavy stone. There was no chance for him to survive and he ate some poisonous mushrooms. He had been no longer after he was found.

Taking all aspects into consideration, Rachel is undoubtedly the culprit behind the murder.